Building LifeBridges to the Suicidal Caller

Issue: # 1

Spring/2010

Hello! We'd like to "re-introduce" ourselves - 911 Training & Consultants is now 911 Training Institute. We continue to offer our highly praised "Survive&Thrive" courses, and have added new course offerings as well. We also have a new and improved website we'd love for you to check out. Please look at the side bar for a listing of our Spring training sessions. If these locations do not work for you, but you would like to attend a 911 Training Institute class, we would be happy to discuss adding a session in your area. We look forward to serving you again,

Jim Marshall, MA

Building LifeBridges to the Suicidal Caller

This class is right for you if you want to.....

- Gain awareness of the impacts of suicide in the life of the nation, our communities, and our families.
- Increase your knowledge about the causes of suicide and related risk factors.
- Learn to form a powerful "lifebridge" to suicidal callers with three key elements:

1. A genuine human connection that can buffer and help prevent suicide
2. suicide risk-assessment skills using the Institute's research-based LifeBridges Suicide Protocol
3. Intervention skills, strategies, and powerful messages to influence the caller's decision making process

You will also learn to....

- Maintain empathy balanced with healthy detachment so you can manage your own distress and mental health while achieving peak performance in dispatching the suicide call.
- Develop greater confidence as your knowledge and skill is increased.
